the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are employed in the public sector has increased by 1.5 million, from 2.5 million in 1980 to 4 million in 1999. The public sector has grown from 10% of the economy to 17% of the economy.

There is a growing emphasis on the need to improve the efficiency of the public sector. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the introduction of competition, the restructuring of public services, and the introduction of performance targets.

One of the main challenges facing the public sector is the need to improve the quality of services. This is a challenge that is being met by a number of initiatives, including the introduction of quality standards, the restructuring of public services, and the introduction of performance targets.

a new era*

Dawn brings light to a freshly awakened world, and so too, the 1966-67 school year at Munster High School was the dawn of many things. Highlights of a unique year included Munster's first senior prom, the first full varsity sports program, and the first graduation of a senior class.

A bright new day began for Munster High when students entered their senior high facilities on the opening day of school in September. The newly acquired courses aimed at seniors meant a larger faculty and a more varied schedule. Special activities brought both excitement and adventure to the school year. June climaxed a year of "firsts" with the graduation of two hundred Munster students. The dawning year is one to remember—always.

Munster High in its first year as a full high school had to set up solid traditions. Special activities such as Loyalty Week, senior prom, plays, musical, and talent show gave the year flavor and interest. Finally the most meaningful occasion took place when the first senior class graduated in June, bringing a close to a year's worth of student activities

Dedication Game and Dance Climax

Juniors "delivered 'em"

Seniors "melted 'em"

Sophomores "buried 'em"

Loyalty Week began October 17-22. Monday was marked "Kick-Off-Day", when each class covered a wall with posters. Tuesday, "Red & White Day", found letter sweaters every where. On Wednesday, senior posters were given first place. On Thursday, students "stomped" the River Forest Ingots with oddly matched shoes. At Friday's bonfire, a pep rally burned in effigy an 8-foot Ingot player.

Saturday, the big dedication day, began at 12 o'clock with the first MHS parade. 1:30 was kick-off for the game. At half-time Yvonne Satterblom was crowned queen, while Lorrie Rich and Kathy Brown served as senior princesses, Nyla Guess, junior princess, and Gail Burke, sophomore princess. The junior's float was awarded first place. After victory over the Ingots, the dance held that night proved a fitting climax to a historical week.

The "crowning touch" Student Council Vice President, Ed Jankura, crowns surprised queen, senior Yvonne Satterblom at half-time.

Loyalty Week Activities

Tense! Tough!—Team! Mustangs wait anxiously for start of the River Forest game which was a part of the festivities dedicating Munster High's brand new football field.

"And the beat went on!" Dedication celebrating went on into the night at the Dedication Dance.

Munster Booster Club's entry in the parade was an indication of the club's strong support for Munster High activities.

And they charged!—With a note of victory in the air! Munster High's marching band made their debut at the dedication game and royally welcomed the fighting Mustangs to the battlefield.

Talent Shows at MHS

Epics inaugurated the "Battle of the Bands."

The annual talent show, presented by the Senior High Student Council on March 8, was a smashing success. Eleven student acts were presented, giving the audience a large variety of talent ranging from folk singing by the Wayfarers to a skit satirizing a typical day at MHS. Other acts included solos by Lynda Geller, Larry Carlson, and Wendy Blohm, vocal duets by Jerry and Jill, and one by Phil Lengyel and Karl Linden, songs from the bands the Epics and the Coulis Brothers, magic tricks by Greg Pearson and Jim Smith, and a skit reminiscent of their high school years presented by Mike Siebielic, Sandy Sand, John Krause, and Gloria Kostka.

Mike and Sandy recreate a second childhood.

Ball State Symphony Visits

On April 7, the Ball State Symphony Orchestra gave a concert in the new auditorium. This was the first program ever to be held in our auditorium. Mr. Michael Conyers, our string instructor, who previously played with the Ball State Symphony Orchestra, arranged for this engagement.

Mr. Leedham, conductor, was assisted by Mr. Wittig, a guest conductor. The symphony opened the program with "America." Other selections included the "Overture Allegro" by Couperin—Milhaud, and the soundtrack from "The Sound of Music." The concluding number played by the orchestra was Shostakovich's Symphony No. 5.

"Inherit the Wind" Proves A

When Matthew Harrison Brady arrives in Hillsboro, the whole town turns out to meet their savior. Brady thanks them saying, "You have decked out your city beautifully! Mrs. Brady and I are delighted to be here to defend what is most precious in our hearts: the Living Truth of the Scriptures!"

"Rache—I'm free!" "I know Bert—let's take the 5:13 train out, I want to celebrate!" (D. Good, V. Astolas).

"So you, Matthew Harrison Brady, through oratory, legislation, or whatever, pass along God's word to man. Is that it?" "No, no!" (G. Eppler, P. Lengyel, J. Gubitz, K. Linden).

Success for the Drama Department

It takes a long time to make up a cast of 50. Here, Karen Kirincic gets her share of the torture.

"Hard Blair, my ancestors was not worms! Not blobs of jelly neither!"

"We used to be good Friends once. What happened? Why have you moved so far from me?" Drummond replies, "All motion is relative."

After Drummond has cross-examined Mr. Brady, Matt finds comfort in his wife: "They're laughing at me, mother." "No they're not, no they're not."

The curtain arose on April 21-22 to a vibrant performance of "Inherit the Wind". The success of the production can be claimed thru the efforts of Miss Ann Burgdorf, dramatics director, assisted by Miss Dorothy Christoff and student director, Sara Gilman.

The plot revolved around Bert Cates, played by Dick Good a biology instructor on trial for teaching the theory of evolution in the public schools of Tennessee. The colliding lawyers, Matthew Harrison Brady and Henry Drummond were played by Karl Linden and Phil Lengyel, respectively.

"The Wizard of Oz" was also presented with Cindy Blackmun portraying Dorothy and Pat Lavery as her dog Toto. The cowardly lion was enacted by Jeff Gubitz with Dick Good as the heartless Tinman and Mike Siebielec playing the part of Scarecrow. Linda Anderson portrayed the wicked witch of the North and Patti Finley was Glinda, the good witch.

Miss Ann Burgdorf, director, and Miss Dorothy Christoff made the play a success.

At a revival meeting, Bert Cates is condemned by Rev. Brown: "Let him feel the terror of the sword! Let his soul writhe in anguish and damnation."

"Cynical? That's my fascination. I do hateful things for which people love me and lovable things for which they hate me," says Hornbeck.

A Greatly Transformed Commons

Blossoming flowers, chirping birds, and sparkling ponds all contributed to the mystical magic of "Moonlight and Roses", the first Junior-Senior Prom for Munster High School.

Under the direction of Ron Gyure, junior class president, committees worked tediously to transform the school commons area into an old fashioned garden.

Upon entering the door, couples found themselves amidst a garden of roses. The picturesque scenery along the walls was dimly lit, allowing for a romantic atmosphere under the glittering stars.

"I could have danced all night" was the feeling of many as they waltzed around the refreshing pools, occasionally pausing by the glimmering water wheel or the dreamy wishing well where every wish came true.

The Johnny Nowlan orchestra coincided with the decorations by adding soft music to the beauty.

On sweetheart trees hung hearts with each couples' names, which were taken as a keepsake to add to the cherished memories of the fantasy land of roses.

At the magic hour of eleven o'clock, the Grand March took place. Pete Davis, Roberta Peterson, Ron Gyure, and Barb Jankura enjoyed the event.

"Carousel" Requires Talented

"I don't want to see her around here anymore!" Mrs. Mullin (R. Levin) makes her wishes well known to Billy (D. Massa), Julie (C. Blackmun), and Carrie (L. Low).

Circus performers, three boys at play, and the Snow family were featured in Louise's ballet. Susan Emerson as Louise and Dale Roades as the Carnival Man gave the sequence great meaning.

The Heavenly Friend (P. Lavery) and the Star-keeper (J. Gubitz) tell Billy he can go back for one day.

The efforts of many went into the presentation of "Carousel".

Students and Adults

The 1967 musical, Rodgers' and Hammerstein's "Carousel", under the direction of Mr. Richard Holmberg, has left an unforgettable mark in the history of our school and community. Mr. Gene Fort acted as technical director, and Mrs. Ronald Corson as choreographer.

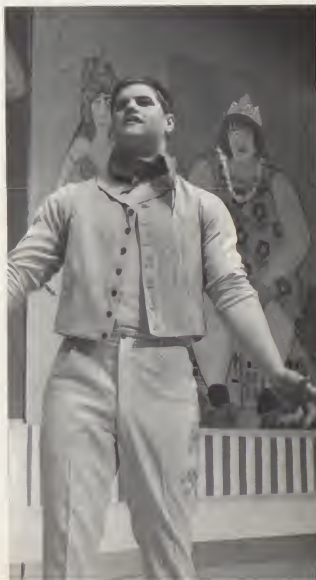

Many students as well as faculty members spent long hours preparing to make "Carousel" a big success. Included in the cast of principals were Cindy Blackmun as Julie Jordan, Dick Massa as Billy Bigelow, Leslie Low as Carrie Pepperidge, and Karl Linden as Enoch Snow. Other roles portrayed were Mrs. Mullin by Randy Levin, Jigger Craigin by John Krause, and Nettie Fowler by Nancy Belshaw. Dale Roades was student director assisted by Tammy Ashby, and Ray Barton served as stage manager with assistance from Cydney Rundle. Student Assistant to Mrs. Corson was Carol-rae Kraus. Members of the Gary Symphony Orchestra and the Munster Adult and High School Bands were featured in the "Carousel" Orchestra organized by Mr. L. Paul Brown, Jr.

Boy's Chorus for "Blow High, Blow Low" members are R. Baudino, M. Banjura, C. Gordon, D. Massa, J. Keene, R. Maroe, J. Horan, J. Buhler, P. Laverv, C. Livingston, R. Carlson, T. Molnar, J. Keeler, R. Gyure, and D. Roades. K. Vieweg and J. Krause were feature in a dance.

Karl Linden and Leslie Low had the supporting roles of Mr. Enoch Snow and his intended, Carrie Pepperidge.

Munster High's First Commencement

Indiana Senator Birch Bayh addressed the Class of 67, reminding them of a challenge waiting to be met.

June 8, 1967 was truly a night to remember for 184 seniors of Munster High School. Seniors assembled in the fieldhouse to don caps and gowns in anticipation of the last hour of their high school years.

Commencement began with the proud processional of the soon-to-be graduates. The senior concert choir, directed by Richard Holmberg, gave their last performance singing two selections, one of which posed a challenge to the seniors with "The Impossible Dream". Mr. Frank Hammond, Superintendent, addressed the audience and extended special congratulations to the first graduates of Munster High School, as the "vanguards of ambition and tradition". Following an introduction by Dr. Masse, the Commencement Address was given by Senator Birch Bayh. As Mr. Speelman, senior class sponsor, presented the class of 67, and Mr. Martin Kraegel, school board president, bestowed diplomas, the meaning and purpose of the diploma was deeply felt throughout the auditorium. 184 seniors of Munster High School, its first graduating class, walked out of the high school auditorium on the night of June 8 to look back and look ahead simultaneously. For all it was an end; for all it was a beginning. From the past—memories; for the future—challenges. Whoever they are, whatever they do, the first graduates of Munster High will never be forgotten.

All in place for the processional, soon-to-be grads wait for start of "Pomp and Circumstance".

knowledge*

September '66, through June '67, Munster High students went to school. This does not only mean attending dances and football games, but most important, it means they gave forty hours a week to learning. To learn about people and places of the world, about the many laws of nature, and about how to later make a living, Munster teens took varied courses for an all-around education

Germany will be the home of these MHS students the summer of '67. Sue MacDonald and Virginia Greene (FRONT) and Sara Gilman, Howard Silverman, and Helen Baker are the lucky ambassadors.

Mr. Noack, German teacher, reviews the assignment with his German class.

Language

The Senior High Language Department was enlarged to include: Miss Awe, Spanish; Miss Graly, Spanish; Mrs. McIntyre, Latin; Miss Lewis, German; and Mr. Noack, German.

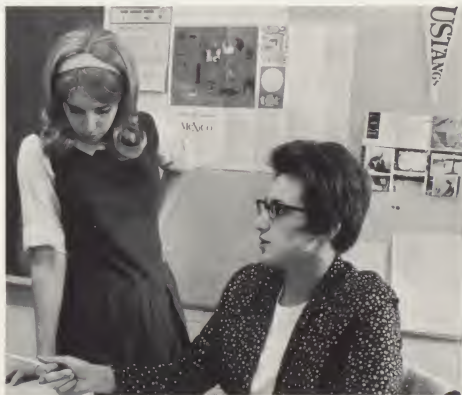

The new language lab was completed allowing students another opportunity to develop speaking skills, pronunciation, and grammar.

Also this year was our Language Intercom System, which will allow classes to hear tapes, music, and records in their classrooms.

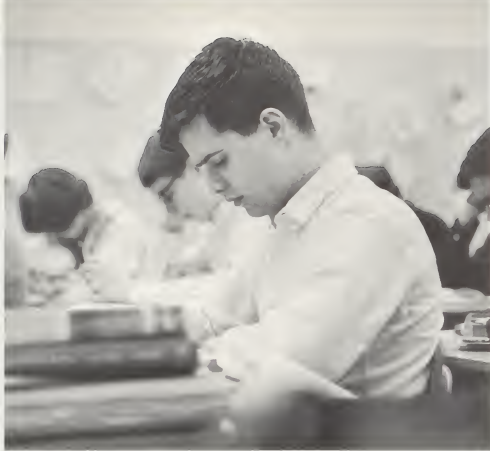

Three Juniors; Helen Baker, Sara Gilman, Suzanne Macdonald, and two sophomores; Virginia Greene, and Howard Silverman will spend nine weeks in Krefeld, Germany this summer.

Another first for MHS this year was the attendance of the six week summer session at the Technical Institute of Monterey, Mexico. Miss Awe and five Spanish students: Marcia Boldt, Bill Coe, Linda Cusik, Betsie Lanman, and Andi Lipner learned a variety of things, from grammar to songs and dances.

This was the first year Munster High School has offered Spanish and Latin on a third year level.

Students Probe Concepts

Course possibilities for seniors this year were Modern Literature, World Literature, and Advanced Placement.

Modern Literature studies included Salinger's Nine Short Stories, Old Man and the Sea, The Ugly American, and Raisin in the Sun, including the writing of their autobiographies.

Seniors studied works from France, Italy, Spain, Russia, Scandinavia, and the Orient, with highlights of the year including interpretive readings of The Master Builder and Enemy of the People in lecture, plus a term paper.

Another division of Senior English was Advanced Placement taught by Mrs. Ruth Braesmele. The primary objectives of AP English were "to read works of literary merit and to consider ideas which arise from them". Units of study contained selections by Conrad, Shakespeare, Hemingway, Faulkner, Greene, Albee, Warren, Hardy, and Chekov.

Mrs. Helen Engstrom and Miss Barbara Sichak led the Class of '68 through units of study in American and English literature, highlighted by The Scarlet Letter, Our Town, and To Kill A Mockingbird, plus units on short stories and expository writing.

'69ers studied poems, short stories, and read a wide range of novels including Silas Marner, Inherit the Wind, A Tale of Two Cities, and The Invisible Man, taught by Miss Ann Burgdorf and Mr. Richard Smith.

Writing themes is like the squeezing of water from stones. Mike Hand searches for the right words to express himself during a seminar. In-class-themes are Mrs. Braesmele's favorite exercise.

Visual and listening aids provide tools for social studies. Teachers select materials to augment class studies.

Mr. Ronald Corson and Mr. Edwin Burkhardt taught senior economics, with units on capitalism, production, labor, money, and banking. The Class of '67 also had a semester of American government, in which they compared governments and political philosophies, the Bill of Rights, and the three branches of the United States Government.

"Gaining an appreciation and understanding of the forces and background that have shaped the society we live in today are the main objectives of American history," according to instructors Mr. Gene Fort and Miss Pfisterer. Juniors began the year with the founding of the colonies and progressed through the administration of Lyndon Johnson.

World history and world geography taught by Mr. Donald Kernaghan, were offered to freshmen through seniors. The basic aim of these courses was gaining an understanding of what history and geography involve.

Team meetings occur frequently at MHS. Mr. Fort and Mr. Kernaghan discuss their material presentation.

Advanced physics and chemistry courses were available to seniors this year. Two members of this class, Jim Rozos and Tom Dalfonso, demonstrate proper lab technique which all should know.

In the '66-'67 year, the junior and senior high school science departments moved into new laboratories, with new lab facilities for eighty students at one time.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors studied the Chem Study chemistry course, instructed by Mr. Rose, including nearly 30 experiments, in which students grasped a working knowledge of laboratory procedure in addition to fundamental and more advanced chemistry.

The junior and senior physics students, did over forty experiments, and many often "magical" demonstrations, under the supervision of Mr. Jim Jennings.

Advanced Science, initiated this year for seniors, instructed by Mr. Jennings, consisted of extensive laboratory work, individual study, and directed readings.

Guidance is often needed during chemistry labs and Mr. Rose is always around to give advice.

to Math Department

Mathematics is the last of the "Three R's", but by no means is the least. For six years, Munster students have met the challenge the "New Math" presents.

In the senior high, studies in this field encompassed geometry, advanced algebra, modern analysis, and UICSM (University of Illinois Committee on School Mathematics). Mr. Lloyd Lindquist is the head of the UICSM division. Seniors completed UICSM the first semester and studied analytic geometry with an introduction to calculus the remainder of the year. Instructors include Miss Dorothy Christoff, Lloyd Lindquist, Al Smith, and Rex Smolek.

Computer math was added to the second semester. The class began at 7:15 A.M., but despite the early hour, over 100 students appeared for instruction. The purpose of the course was to learn how material is programmed for computers.

Munster Invades Lyric Opera

Karl Linden contemplates his music theory composition.

For a better concept of the forms of music and a general background in music history, students enthusiastically enrolled in the Music Appreciation class conducted by Mr. Richard Holmberg.

Part of the course of study included opera and a visit to the Civic Opera House to see Verdi's, La Traviata. Also as part of the studies of the symphony and concertos, the class saw Van Cliburn and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra at Orchestra Hall.

During the second semester, students sought an understanding of basic harmony structures by attending Mr. Holmberg's Music Theory class. The course included the study of intervals, chords, 4-part harmony, and ear training to develop a more acute sense of pitch.

Mr. Holmberg finds his music theory students challenged by the rules of harmony.

Mary Burlison masters the art of water coloring, while Andi Lipner mulls over her own problems.

Art Paints a New Picture

Student teacher supervises collage construction.

Under the direction of Mrs. Stout and Miss Dunn, the art department provided experience in the seven major art areas—drawing, painting, sculptor, print-making, weaving, jewelry, and ceramics. These areas serve as the framework for study on all levels. As a student progresses from one level to the next, his study becomes more intensified.

The projects that the art students made this year varied from entries in the Directory Art Contest to slab pots and the art III student's one-man show in the spring. The art department demonstrated its talents to the school in the form of periodical exhibits.

HOME MANAGEMENT

Home Management has become an expanding department at Munster High School. Home management I students studied social relations, food and nutrition, grooming, and clothing. Second year students dealt with money management, budgeting, fiber identification, clothing construction, and food experimentation. Girls in Home Management III were kept occupied with tailoring, home management, and house planning and furnishing. Next year a 4th year of Home Management will be added to the department.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The completion of the new Munster High School provided the Industrial Arts Department with the opportunity to add needed space and new equipment to their facilities.

Under the supervision and guidance of Mr. R. Hunt and Mr. W. Engstrom, boys in grades seven through twelve are trained in a variety of shop skills. The courses offered include drafting, electronics, power mechanics, graphic arts and crafts, and general shop, with special emphasis placed on safety.

Industrial Arts, informally known as shop, furnishes an excellent chance for boys to master the arts of industry and become familiar with vocational opportunities of the future.

Eight business courses offered this year were, general business, business math, first and second year typing, first and second year shorthand, office practice, and bookkeeping, taught by Mr. Brinson, Miss Rawson, and Mr. Stone.

With the opening of the new school, the business department added to its facilities, twenty electric typewriters, three adding machines, and two calculators, three transcription machines, a telotype, and a "Multi-Channel dictation unit."

Mr. Niksic and Mr. Rosenau motivated the boys to achieve the highest level by awarding different colored trunks as each fitness test was passed. Each boy began with white shorts and Munster High Mustangs have made the 1966-67 school year one to remember. Coached by well-trained, interested men, our Mustangs learned the rules of the game, the way to play, and how to practice the necessary sportsmanship. The importance of team effort as well as individual initiative was accented. The coaches, the players, and the team supporters have made this year a real success in the field of . .

The Mustang football squad compiled an 8-2 record scoring 179 points to their opponents' total of 89. Everything done by a Mustang player was a record this year and since this was the first season of varsity play, records were broken, tied, and set every time the Red & White hit the gridiron.

The 1966 schedule was an insight into the spirit MHS will develop in the years to come. The Mustang coaching staff, headed by Mr. John Friend, related a vital spirit to the boys out for football. Mr. Richard Hunt, assistant coach, also is a fine example of the proper spirit needed and work required to instill in boys true desire and a love for the game. Mr. James Jennings also served as assistant coach working with the ends. Mr. Michael Niksic, a veteran of the Munster staff, is a constant example, especially to the offensive backs, of what a player really is. Line coach, Mr. Alex Bochnowski, Mr. Ed Robertson, and Mr. James Stone round-out excellent quality of coaches and light the lamp for bigger and better football squads to come.

Jeff Horan and Derek Paul led the Mustang team leadership as captains for the '66 season. Wrestling Half Nelson hold gets the better of Pete Reinstein's sporting foe.

The Mustang grapplers opened this year with our first varsity team. Under the coaching of Mr. Buchnowski, the team fought to a well-earned 3-8 record. The varsity team consisted of Bill Eitzen in the 95 lb. class, Stan Franczek and Jim Barger at 103, and Brian Bracco at 112. Joe Fuss wrestled at 120 lbs., and Mark Thomas competed in the 127 lb. class, while Dave Crockett was at 133 lbs. Steve Nelson wrestled at 138 lbs. Tod Demakos at 145 lbs., and Fred Malo at 154 lbs. Rounding out the varsity squad, Derek Paul wrestled at 165 lbs., Pete Reinstein at 180 lbs., and Dick Massa and Glen Wyant in the heavyweight division.

Our grapplers lost the opening match to a Highland team. We then lost to River Forest, before defeating Hobart for the Mustang first victory. Meeting the Griffith team, the Mustangs wrestled in top form only to lose this match. Losses to Merrillville, Hobart, and Lew Wallace followed. Calumet and Lowell also defeated our Mustangs. In a highlight of the season we downed Whiting in a sensational 58-0 shut-out. We also defeated Liberty Township in a well-earned victory.

The grapplers made a respectable showing in the sectional, with Derek Paul, Pete Reinstein, and Brian Bracco winning their first match. Through Coach Buchnowski's leadership, the experience gained this year, and the youth of the team, Mustang grapplers can develop into a strong team in the future.

Tennis Team Triumphs Too!

Behind the coaching of Mr. Lindquist, Munster High's tennis team rolled to a superb 8-2 season. Led by seniors Mike Stimak, Mike Salisbury, and Pete Reinstein in single competition, and the fine doubles play of Pete Davis, Bill Guber, Dave Lawson, and Craig Gordon, the team streaked to three consecutive victories at the onset of the season.

Opening against Crown Point, the Netmen met little resistance, blanking Crown Point 5-0 back-to-back matches.

Meeting a tough Highland team, M.H.S. prevailed, taking the match 4-1. M.H.S. determination marked this win as one of the high points of the season.

This year's biggest match pitted M.H.S. against Hammond High, both undefeated prior to the match. Although every match was not determined until the final point, M.H.S. was defeated 5-0.

The netmen proved their ability by defeating a rugged Griffith squad, 5-0, and River Forest, 5-0.

We closed out the season defeating Griffith, 3-2, Highland 4-1, and Valparaiso team in the last match of the season, 4-1. Thus the M.H.S. netmen finished the season with a fine 8-2 record, establishing themselves as one of the best teams in the area.

General consensus indicates that senior Mike Stimak was the most valuable player. After the departure of seniors Pete Reinstein, Mike Salisbury, Craig Gordon, and Dave Lawson, varsity starters juniors Bill Guber, and Pete Davis, as well as juniors Dave Forsythe, Joe Fuss, Tom Dillon, Sophomores, Tom Spero, Jim Patterson, Tom Luerrson and Gus Hagberg, the M.H.S. tennis team is well stocked.

This year saw Mustang basketball at its best. The Mustangs completed a season that saw Bob Wetnight set records in scoring and rebounding, Bob Stout in free throw percentage, George Baker in personal fouls, a nine game win streak, and sectional victories. All this added up to a 16 and 7 record.

In the opener against Highland, the Mustangs lost, 75-56, but Coach Dick Hunt, with the assistance of Mr. Ed Robertson, led the team to victories over Washington TWP. and Clark. Mustangs were defeated, though, by Hebron, 54-53. We stomped on and won a rematch with Lowell, 60-53, in the first game of the Lake Central Holiday Tourney.

In the second half of the season the Mustangs reeled off nine straight wins, but in the final season game they went down to Boone Grove, 67-65.

In the sectionals, the Mustangs beat Highland, 72-59, and Morton, 72-62, to go into the finals against Hammond Tech. The Mustangs played valiantly in the final game, but went down to Tech, 88-68.

Under Coach Richard Ordyna, MHS has ended its second year of varsity cross-country competition. Paced by senior Jim Budarz and junior Mike McComas, the harriers finished with 4 wins and 5 losses.

Highlights of the season were the MHS victories over Hammond Clark and Highland. Though losing to Lake Central, senior Jim Budarz came in first place and broke the school's x-country record with a 9:56 clocking.

Munster's four major award winners were Jim Budarz, Mike McComas, Jeff Brager, and Pete Smith. In order to receive this, the harrier had to place ninth or better in all meets. Two trophies were presented at the fall sport banquet. The first was the "PHD" award, that went to junior Dave Wickland for his "Pride, Hustle, and Desire". The second was the Munster High School's Most Valuable Cross-Country Runner" award, given to Jim Budarz who came in first place in five out of nine meets.

Munster High has great potential for the future. With only two seniors leaving the squad, Mike McComas, Pete Smith, Larry Carlson, Dave Clark, Dave Wickland, Bill Baker, and Dean White will be top prospects to lead the harriers to a well over .500 mark next year.

The Mustangs showed their spirit by bouncing back to swamp eight consecutive teams: Emerson, Wirt, Portage, Hammond High, twice, Griffith, and Chesterton.

Finishing a strong 5th in the Sectionals, the Seahorses placed Jeff Kidder 2nd in the 100 yard Butterfly, the 200 yard Butterfly, the 200 yard Medley Relay, and the 400 yard Freestyle Relay, 3rd, thus qualifying for the State finals meet.

Girls Lead Fans

Under the leadership of Captain Sandy Sutter, with the spirit of Kathy Brown, Sue Emerson, Nyla Guess, Janet Navta, and Donna Hinkle, the Mustang football and basketball squads were cheered on to numerous victories and successful seasons. These girls, as varsity cheerleaders, were behind the crowds at all the Mustang contests, and through their wonderful display of spirit and leadership our teams and fans alike were able to say in the 1966-1967 campaigns that "We're Proud of our school. We're proud of our cheerleaders!" Sub-varsity cheerleaders Pam Cooper, Gail Burke, Patti Speelman, and Debby Sutter were integral parts of Mustang B-team success in 1966-1967.

Munster Mustangs, we want our Mustangs!

Hey you Mustangs, we've really got to fight!

B-team cheerleaders, Patti Speelman, Gail Burke, Debby Sutter, and Pam Cooper raise Mustangs voices, loud and clear.

Cindermen Initiate New Track

Larry Johnson pours it on as he gains on his opponent in track meet.

Munster High's trackmen, coached by Mr. James Stone, finished the indoor track season with a very respectable record. The Mustangs finished with a 6-2 dual meet mark and a second place finish in the First Annual Munster Relays.

The Mustangs six dual meet victories were over Hammond Tech 52-39, Hebron 49-44, Whiting 68-13, River Forest 51-40, Gary Edison 68-18 and 58-33.

Going in to the outdoor season, Coach Stone's crew began with a 91-27 lashing of East Gary. They were beat by River Forest's 4 point margin. In the Andean Relays Munster placed 6th in the red division. Sprinter Bob Nowak's 10.1 in the 100 yd. dash highlighted the Mustang's showing.

The Mustangs finished third in the Chesterton Relays with 37 points and a 52-48 victory over Gary Horace Mann.

Coach Stone added, "that he was very pleased with the performances of his track team and hopes for a better season next year.

GOLF

The Mustang Linksters with Coach Gordon Rosenau at the helm completed their third straight winning season with two losses to top-rated Highland and Merriville. Taking a second in a triangular, beating Hammond Tech and losing to Crown Point, gave the MHS golfers needed incentive. Wins over Clark, Liberty Township, and Tech proved the golf team had what it takes to succeed. Finishing the season with a victory over Calumet, the team placed tenth in the area golf sectionals.

MHS '67 Spring Sports Activities

BASEBALL

The Munster baseball team opened its first full season of varsity competition on April 3, 1967, playing Gary Wirt in Gary. Up against some excellent pitching, Munster lost 6—1. Bad weather and inexperience caused the results of the first game, which proved to be the pattern for the greater part of the season. John Bognar, senior southpaw, carried the bulk of the pitching load, turning in good performances against Wirt, Griffith, Whiting, E. C. Washington, East Gary, and Lake Central.

The Mustangs, however, showed promise during the second half of the season. After warm weather became a reality, Munster's team beat Lowell 10—4, East Gary 3—0, and Lake Central 2—0. The Mustangs lost by only one or two runs to E. C. Washington, 4—3, Griffith, 6—5, Bishop Noll, 13—12, and Merrillville, 10—8. In their first state tournament in baseball, the Mustangs lost to Bishop Noll in their first game of the sectional.

In seventeen games, the Mustangs scored an average of five runs per game. Junior Mike Edwards and sophomores Bob Stout and Gus Hagberg supplied the offensive power.

Coach Niksie and Mike McComas confer on batting tactics. Strategy counts in bringing teammates home from the bases.

Competition may get pretty tough as an active game of basketball progresses.

Intramural volleyball has its ups and downs and every player must keep on the ball.

dd to MHS Athletic Program

The Munster High School Fieldhouse was put to good use this year by virtue of extra-curricular programs. Besides the usual physical education classes and sports practice sessions, our fieldhouse housed Saturday Intramural programs, adult recreation on Monday and Wednesday nights, and high school student's recreation on Thursday nights. A homeroom basketball tournament was held also. The fieldhouse has become an important part of Munster life.

Students

To promote an overall spirit in education, citizenship and sportsmanship, hence enriching school pride is the purpose of Munster High Student Council. It is hoped that a harmonious relationship between the student body, the administration, and the community will be achieved through this school pride.

Under the leadership of Gloria Kostka—pres., Ed Jankura—v. pres., Carol-rae Kraus—secretary, and Yvonne Satterblom—treasurer, the organization began the year with a tea in honor of the new teachers, a leadership workshop, and money raising projects. After game sock hops were initiated by the council, and the annual college luncheon and the talent show were renewed.

The Student Council of '66-'67 used Dedication as its key word in our most memorable Dedication Week which consisted of class competition for posters and floats, a bonfire, a parade, recognition of school board and booster club, crowning of a queen, and a dance. This year has marked the dedication of tradition for Munster High and the Council has provided the essential leadership for such an endeavor.

Citizenship, scholarship, leadership, and service, the four ideals of NHS, are reflected in its emblem.

NHS

The National Honor Society requires that members excel in the four qualities that serve as the foundation of the organization: scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Under the principle of making Munster High a better school, the National Honor Society, sponsored by Mr. Lloyd Lindquist, decorated a car for the Dedication Day parade, brought the Book Mobile to the school, ran the concession stand for a basketball game, and instituted the Pledge of Allegiance into school life. National Honor Society exerts itself into the areas needed most for making this principle an ever-present reality.

THESPIANS

Seventeen Thespians were on the go in 1966-67, whether it was giving a dance or getting the cogs in the drama department's production of Jerome Lawrence and Robert Edmund Lee's famous "Inherit the Wind."

Guided by officers Dale Roades (President), Mike Siebielec (Vice-President), Cene Carlson (Secretary), and Jeff Gubitz (Treasurer). Thespians also moved into decorations to help celebrate the MHS Dedication with a blue and gold car and costume-bedecked players in the parade.

On a more serious side, Thespians Troupe 2861 is an honored first at MHS. It is part of a "non-social, non-secret" organization conceived for the learning and "advancement of theater arts in the secondary schools." This is the creed, and what MHS Thespians have tried to achieve.

First Sight-Reading Contest

Approximately seventy students participated in the 1966-1967 Marching, Pep, and Concert bands, conducted by Mr. L. Paul Brown, Jr. Mustang's first marching band began fullscale rehearsals in the fall in Community Park. The band made its first public appearance at Purdue's Ross-Ade stadium for Indiana High School Band Day. The band also performed at the football field dedication.

During the basketball season, the pep bands performed at several home games. Half-time shows were performed by the pep bands and the majorette corp.

The concert band became active at the conclusion of the marching season. The concert band performed at three concerts, in December, April, and May. In addition, on April 15, the band traveled to New Haven for the state band and vocal contest to achieve a rating of excellent.

Molding the pep band into a single unit with his baton, Mr. Brown combines basketball and music.

Striding across the field, Munster High's first marching unit expressed in music the excitement of dedication day. With the formation of an 'M' the crowds acclaimed their precision feats.

Concerts and Contests

"Singing strengthens the breast and opens the pipes." The 'pipe openers' from Munster High this year were the Girls Glee Club, the 10th & 11th grade a cappella choir, and the 12th grade concert choir. Under the direction of Mr. Richard Holmberg, the concert choir sang for the Indiana State Teachers Association convention in the fall, and joined the other two choirs in the presentation of a Christmas and a spring concert.

This year the three choirs went to New Haven, Ind., for the state choir contest. The Glee Club achieved a rating of I, the a cappella choir a rating of II, and the concert choir a rating of I.

The choirs also participated in commencement activities. The a cappella choir sang for the baccalaureate service. As the culmination of four years of singing together, the concert choir gave their last performance at their graduation.

In an effort to teach a song to a choir, Mr Holmberg pounds out voice parts.

Jerry Livingston and Jill Molnar made their television debut on "It's Academic" in April.

The Madrigal Singers including Debby Dixon, Mike Hand, Randy Roller, Susan Greene, Linda Werskey, Mike Soloman, Dale Roades, and Jill Molnar, Raymond Barton, Cydney Rundle, Scott Arrowsmith, Cindy Stewart, Karl Linden, and Teri Eschenbach sang the story of one "Matona, Lovely Maiden."

The fine performances given by the Girls Sextet are attributed to the talents of Linda Berrey, Randy Levin, Debby Dixon, Donna Sittler, Leslie Low, Kathy Viewig, and accompanist Maureen O'Connor.

"The Testament of Freedom" proved a testament of talent for the Boys Ensemble with Dale Roades, Scott Arrowsmith, John Krause, Ray Barton, Ron Gyure, Mike Soloman, Dave Pope,

Recognition

Those students with a great desire to sing found six ensembles to supplement their participation in the choirs. In addition to the established ensembles including the Boys Ensemble, the Girls Ensemble, and the Girls Sextet, Mr. Holberg, the director, formed three new groups, Madrigal Singers, the Boys Quartet, and the Mixed Ensemble.

The six ensembles performed at the Christmas and spring concerts, and also at the Northern Indiana School Band, Orchestra, and Vocal Association contest at Butler University in Indianapolis. The Boys Ensemble, the Girls Ensemble, and the Girls Sextet all received ratings of I, and the Madrigal Singers, the Mixed Ensemble, and the Boys Quartet received ratings of II. Because many of the participants are seniors, the establishment of many new ensembles is forecasted for next year.

The Mixed Ensemble of Jerry Livingston, Sandy Sands, John Krause, Jill Monar, and Mike Hand sang an inspired "Amen."

"Silver Children" brought success and a superior rating in the state music contest to the Girls Ensemble including Jill Molnar, Cindy Blackmun, Toni Karas, Gayle Yahnke, Janet Navta, Chris Peterson, Linda Werskey (accompanist), Yvonne Satterblom, Sandy Sands, and Tammy Ashby.

Scott Arrowsmith, John Krause, Jerry Livingston, and Mike Hand of the Boys Quartet made "Lida Rose" bloom.

Speech and Debate Win Honors

Expanding contentions, debater Jim Betz sways audience to affirmative point of view scoring points for team.

"Resolved: The foreign aid policy of the United States shall be limited to non-military assistance" was the debate topic. Varsity debaters were: Jim Betz, Debbie Dixon, Susan Greene, Ed Kraus, Nancy Levenberg, and Yvonne Satterblom. Larry Alport, Cindy Lloyd, Kathy Rosenwinkel, James Rozzos, Pat Thompson, and Marie Valko were members of the sub-varsity team.

Al Brinson coached the debaters to a record thirty wins and twenty losses and to a tie in the finals of Sectionals for alternate.

Forensic activity proved fruitful in 1966-67. The speech team won four trophies from meets: fourth place at Hammond, third at Hobart, two first place trophies from Sectionals and the Calumet Forensic League Championship.

Sectionals and Regionals were March 11 and March 18 respectively. Four MHS Speakers, Sara Gilman, Jeff Gubitz, Carol Kraus, and Phil Lengyel went on to State Finals.

Second Season for Dramatists

Munster's Chapter of the National Thespian Society (Troupe 2861), Drama Club, Drama Workshop, and Drama class revolve under the guidance of Miss Ann Burgdorf.

Part of the work of the Thespians, established in June '66 with 17 charter members, is acting as drama consultants to the rest of the department.

Drama Club and Workshop go hand in hand, planning and staging a play, this year's offering being, "Inherit the Wind".

Drama class, an accredited course, gives aspiring actors and actresses an opportunity to show their ability in creative dramatics.

Sarah Gilman, Valerie Astolas, and Karl Linden run over lines for "Inherit the Wind".

Majorettes, Dance Club, and

Dance club officers Paula Parrish (Sec.), Sue Emerson (V. Pres.), Mr. Speelman (Advisor), Carol LaRocca (Pres.), and Debbie Sutter (Treas.) planned series of events for MHS

DANCE CLUB

To provide an outlet for entertainment for MHS students, a dance club was organized under the sponsorship of Mr. Robert Sutter.

At the beginning of the year, each homeroom elected a representative who attended meetings to help plan the dances.

The club met and began the year with the election of officers: Carol LaRocca was elected president, Sue Emerson, V. Pres.; Paula Parrish, Secretary; and Debbie Sutter, Treasurer.

Throughout the year dance club sponsored four dances which were held in the commons area and featured local bands.

MAJORETTES

The 1966-67 school year saw the formation of many new activities. Among the most popular was the Majorette Corps. Jill Croker, Marcia Bolt, Cheryl Brown, Kathy Klage, Pam Huelett, Nancy Fodor, Julie Morehead, Laurie Chruby, Julie Haddy, and Joan Buvala comprised the vigorous twirling corps, entertaining during half time at home basketball games. Under the direction of Mrs. James Jennings, the participants worked in groups to present varied routines of twirling combined with dancing skills.

Lettermen's Club sponsor, Mr. Niskie started a fifty point must system to maintain a yearly membership in the club. Every Letterman must accumulate a total of fifty points by participating in the activities the club undertakes.

Membership almost doubled from last year as a number of athletes were awarded their first varsity letters.

Another new addition to this year's club was the club's council. The representatives for each sport were: football—Pete Forsythe, basketball—Jeff Horan, baseball—Mike Edwards, swimming—Craig Grodon, golf—Ron Gyure, cross-country—Jim Budarz, wrestling—Derek Paul, track—Bob Nowak, and tennis—Mike Stimak.

The Lettermen held their annual dance March 31, with the Henchmen providing music.

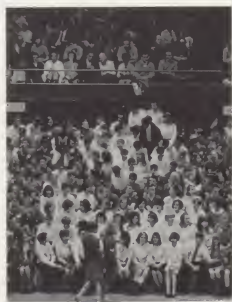

Plotting Y-Teens course for 1967 are Barb Kostka (V. Pres.), Sandy Sutter (Pres.), Kathy Viewig (Treas) and Ruth Procario (Sec. absent).

Y-TEENS

The Y Teen Club of Munster was organized this year under the direction of Miss Jean Rawson. The Y Teens are affiliated with the YWCA in a world-wide fellowship.

Sandy Sutter serves as president, with Barb Kostka, v. pres.; Ruth Procario, sec.; and Kathy Viewig, treas. Every month the Y Teens send representatives to an Inter-Club Council, where activities of each club are reported. Girls from each club also attend a Mid-Winter Conference and a Summer Conference where they get leadership training and new ideas for their clubs.

JOURNALISM

Journalists have been busy this year with work on the "Crier" and the "Paragon."

Journalism Club, under the direction of Miss Barbara Sichak, has been working on advertising, writing, reporting, and layout.

As reporters for the "Crier," they have learned how to search for news and how to write it in the journalistic way of the 4 W's and H, who, what, where, when, why, and how. They have contributed to the paper and the yearbook with help on layout and copy writing.

Another facet of journalism explored by the club members, was that of production of the paper, and also distributed it. All this adds to a well rounded journalistic education.

ART WORKSHOP

During the second lunch period everyday besides Tuesday, twenty-five to thirty students meet in the art room of the junior high building for art workshop. Students in art workshop are those who are enrolled in an art class during the day and this gives them the opportunity to work on their projects, and also students who do not take art are given a chance to experiment with their art ability.

The art workshop also is a public service to the school. The calendars between lecture rooms for the various months are designed and displayed by different small groups in the workshop. Christmas decorations and posters for sectionals were made by this group of students. Currently they are working on posters encouraging the town to vote in town primaries.

All Areas of Munster High

With larger classes and new facilities, teachers found it profitable to employ the assistance of students in the areas of physical education, biology, the office, and the resource center. To become an assistant, students completed applications which were submitted to the respective departments. Leaders had to maintain above average grades and be willing to accept responsibility.

In biology and physical education, students, by leading individual small groups, helped to break down the vastness of larger classes. In the office and resource center, students assisted the secretaries and librarians in organizing materials and running errands.

Most leaders found the program rewarding, fun, and an experience they would not soon forget.

Every facet of the whole complex of Munster High School had a very important common characteristic. Academics, organizations, social activities, and sports all had to have one special ingredient to become effective. Without administrators, teachers, secretaries, students, and school employees, MHS could not be a reality. Munster Schools

Maintaining the excellent reputation of the Munster schools is the job of Mr. Frank H. Hammond, Superintendent of Munster Schools. Mr. Hammond has seen the hopes of Munster citizens for improving and broadening the system become reality, the most recent of these being the completion of the new senior high building.

Dr. Berard Masse, principal, has strived this past year to create a diversified curriculum with extensive activities, providing a sound foundation for Munster High students.

Mr. Ray Rittman is the principal of Wilbur Wright Jr. High. Separate buildings have permitted Mr. Rittman to plan full use of facilities, including the fieldhouse for lunch hour program.

"Time for you and time for me, And time yet for a hundred indecisions And for a hundred visions and revisions." Eliot, Newspaper editor Carol Evanson discusses current problem with MHS principal Dr. Masse as occurs daily with many other students in both Sr. and Jr. Highs.

Seniors Create Tradition

Leading the class in 1967, senior officers are: (SEATED) Kathy Brown, secretary, Cindy Stone, treasurer, (STANDING) George Baker, vice president, Jeff Horan, president.

The first graduating class of Munster High School has come and gone but the achievements they have made and the precedents they have set will long be remembered. The Class of '67 has played a large part in planning and executing Munster's Football Field Dedication and shared the fun of building a float which "melted down" the "Ingoits". Can seniors ever forget their Snicker's candy bars, the prize for winning 1st in the poster contest.

The seniors found another first in senior cords which they decorated and displayed at the Senior Cords Dance.

There were tense moments this last year for the seniors. These include SAT's and waiting for replies from the college of their choice. But the good times overshadow the bad. The seniors will ever be grateful to the juniors for their efforts in the first Junior-Senior Prom. Of these good times perhaps the most exciting was graduation. The Senior Class, under their newly elected officers, held a Banquet, Commencement, and lots of private parties to celebrate the first graduation held at Munster High School. Now they are gone but the spirit of '67 will linger for a long time to come.

"The Thinker" Senior Jeff Horan contemplates weighty matter.

Class of '68 Honor Seniors with

The need for prom organization prompted juniors to elect class officers. They are (SEATED) Sandy Goodman, treasurer, Kathy Beyer, secretary, (STANDING) Peter Davis, vice president, Ron Gyure, president.

Extending fondest farewells to the first graduating seniors, the Junior Class expresses their eagerness to assume the leadership of Munster High School. In the past year as upperclassmen, they set numerous standards, sharing the honor of establishing the traditions of MHS. Working together their talents and energy permeated every phases of MHS life adding to its excellence. They can proudly recall their 1st place Dedication Day float "Deliver Us To Victory."

The new adventure of planning the prom and the after-prom-party at Woodmar Country Club gave the Juniors a sensation of satisfaction as they joined in the festivities of Munster's first Junior-Senior Prom. Term papers, PSAT's, Foreign Language exams, National Merit Tests, class rings, and the election of class officers are included in the reflections of that third year.

Under the guidance of Mr. Gene Fort their sponsor, the key word for the class of '68 has been "achievement" and excellence is their cry as they will continue to excel in spirit, academics, participation, and athletics. Anticipating a year that's bound to be great ... '68!"

Students may receive aid in the resource area from materials personnel when in need of special references.

Class of '69 To See Broader

"We are tuff, we are fine, we're the class of '69 ...". This and other similar cries are typical of the spirit and enthusiasm of Munster High School's sophomore class. Not only is the Sophomore spirit exceptional, but their frequent participation in sports and numerous other activities has helped to better the reputation of Munster High School.

For example, the class of '69 played a large part in the success of Dedication Day. A collection was taken-up and the sophomores helped increase the glory of that day by decorating the football field. Later in the day they joined-in spiritedly in competition of the floats and cheering their team to victory.

Munster's largest class can also be proud of the many sophomores who are a part of most of the activities such as Speech and Debate Club, Student Council, Drama Club, Journalism Club, and Dance Club.

Undoubtedly the class of '69, as they await the title of upper-classmen, will progress in their achievements throughout their high school years.

responsibilities*

Caught in a transition between grade school and high school, pupils in classes seven through nine discover new responsibilities. Getting along with others is the primary goal of activities. Sports, Student Council, journalism, and band and chorus demand the effort of all to succeed as a group.

This cooperative spirit lays the foundation of the

Junior High Students Put Forth Aca

Joe Schneider is undaunted by a mound of work. Using resource time advantageously, Junior High students are able to complete assignments on time.

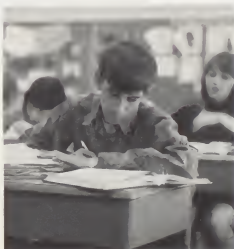

Lectures do not reduce students to mere numbers. The large groups disbanded into small seminars in which each student gets personal attention.

ademic Effort

The academic growth of a student of from grade school to high school is the ultimate goal of the junior high school. In an attempt to accommodate the students's quest for knowledge, a vast and diversified curriculum was programmed. Courses offerings included English geography, American History, various levels of mathematics, German, general science, biology, typing, developmental reading, industrial arts, music, home economics, physical education, and art.

These courses in conjunction with the able and dedicated leadership of our jr. high faculty, gave the students the opportunity to light the lamp of knowledge and to keep it burning bright.

Mr. Grover, Junior High Journalism Advisor, helps Bill Shaver with strip printer.

The Junior High Journalism Club was under the direction of Mr. Robert Grover this past school year. Activities and events of the Junior High School were reported bi-weekly by the paper.

Many students gained vast journalistic knowledge through the use of two individual staffs. These two staffs joined together to produce the "Crier" in conjunction with the senior high newspaper edition.

To initiate the school year they participated in the sale of subscriptions, both for the newspaper and the yearbook. The financial backing of the paper was supplemented by bake sales held during lunch hours.

On May 3rd, the efforts of these ambitious young journalists were honored at the Quill and Scroll Press Night.
